Course Description

This introductory wound care course is designed to equip physical therapists working in a skilled nursing facility with up to date knowledge and skills in wound management. In the first part of the course, participants will learn the basics about the integumentary anatomy, wound healing physiology, how to complete a general wound assessment, and principles of wound management to promote a moist wound healing environment. The second part of the class will focus on how to assess and treat the five most common types of wounds, understand basic skin care needs, affects of aging on skin, and benefits of exercise on wound healing. Through interactive education, case studies, and hands on assessment, participants will gain the evidence based knowledge needed to manage wounds and general skin conditions.
